1. On 23 Oct 56 the guard was doubled at the Dozsa Officers School at Tata and the political instruction was increased.
2. On 24 Oct there was an early morning alarm and the students had to get their field equipment ready. Live ammunition and three days' rations were issued. The Infantry, Motor Transport and Armored units were dispatched to Budapest by truck and arrived there at 0800 hours 24 Oct. They were assembled at the Budai Antal Camp in Budapest. Here they received more ammunition and grenades. The rifle battalion was dispatched to the Radio Station (Studio) under command of Major (fnu) Zabori. The Motor and Tank units stayed at Budai. The Infantry was to secure the Radio Station but after two hours news was received that the Infantry Battalion had joined the Rebels. The Tank units were then sent to the Larihegi Radio Station. The Motor Battalion was dispatched to the Parliament Building. On the way the order was cancelled and it was ordered to the Jail (Gyujto) because of news of an attack there. It found no disorder at the Jail and was ordered back to the Parliament Building. It was then placed in positions inside the Ministry of Defense. Soviet and Hungarian Tanks were surrounding the building outside. Colonel (fnu) Rozsa commanded the defense of the Ministry.
3. The next day, 25 Oct 56, the students were dispatched to search houses in the surrounding area for arms. Upon returning they were fired on by civilians on the roof tops. The Soviets started to blow up buildings. The students were told to shoot if they saw anything but only one man in the Motor Battalion fired. He was severely beaten by his fellow students. A Russian Colonel, name unknown, arrived and said he had to move the tanks to another area. Some of the students were ordered to drive the tanks so that the Rebels would think they were in Hungarian hands. The students returned in an hour without the tanks and told others that they had turned them over to the Rebels. The Soviet Colonel was not seen again. The order was given to widen the ring of defense around the Ministry of Defense. The students were sent, by platoons to occupy buildings. They were told to shoot the Rebels but didn't. On 26 Oct, [ ] platoon and platoon leader, [ ] joined the Rebels. 25X1
4. On 4 Nov 56 some of the students returned in several trucks with Lt Colonel Janos Farkas, who had also joined the Rebels, to the School at Tata. They hoped to join a Rebel Armored Division that was believed to be at the School. Upon arrival they were captured by Soviet troops who were occupying the School. The Soviets had at least 70 tanks and some rocket launchers (Katushas). 25X1

The students were told that if they would lay down their arms they could go home. They laid down their arms but were not permitted to leave. That same night they stole several trucks and left.

5. On 20 Nov the students were informed that if they did not immediately return to the School they would be treated as deserters. About 20% returned. Many had been killed or were missing. The students who returned were sent to Komara as truck drivers. They returned to the School and demanded to be discharged. Upon being refused, they asked for leave and threatened to desert. They were given 10 days leave on 3 Dec 56.
